Accelerating Innovation and the Next Generation of HVAC&R Solutions

As the global HVAC&R market continues to evolve toward natural and lower-GWP refrigerants, higher energy-efficiency standards, and more resilient supply chains, Tecumseh and Invotech share a common vision to help shape the next generation of sustainable and high-performing cooling solutions.

By combining Invotech's expertise in advanced scroll compressor technology with Tecumseh's nearly century-long heritage, application expertise, and global commercial presence, the two companies aim to create a stronger and more agile platform to serve customers worldwide.

The partnership will focus on accelerating innovation, expanding access to high-efficiency technologies, strengthening global supply capabilities, and supporting customers with reliable and sustainable HVAC&R solutions across multiple markets.

Leadership Perspectives

Jo Chen, Chairman and CEO of Invotech, said "I have always been a firm believer in long-termism. At Invotech, we believe that true success is not about winning a single race, but about building a lasting ecosystem. My alignment with Ricardo is rooted in a shared ability to look beyond short-term market fluctuations and focus on the enduring forces that will shape our industry for the next decade: the global demand for energy efficiency and sustainability. I have profound respect for Tecumseh's near-century of heritage, it is a testament to the power of long-term thinking. This partnership is a milestone in our commitment to the 'Day 1' mentality, aligning ourselves with the highest global standards to create certainty and value for our customers for years to come."

Ricardo Maciel, CEO of Tecumseh, said “Tecumseh has always combined a strong legacy of innovation with a clear vision for the future. Our partnership with Invotech brings together complementary strengths that will enhance our ability to deliver agile, efficient, and sustainable solutions to customers around the world. This collaboration represents an important step in strengthening our global position and shaping the future of the HVAC&R industry.”
